

Citizens for a Civil Society
invites you to celebrate
Human Rights Day

Home for the Holidays

Join us for a holiday gathering, with opportunity to explore together what “Home for the Holidays” means for a civil society within a culture of peace. What is “home” as we chart new ways of belonging, and invest practical meaning in human rights? How does Edmonton become a home for each person?

Initial thoughts from:

Satya Das, writer & community volunteer, reading an excerpt from his book-in-progress Us, reflections on human rights as a way of life;

Ahmed Knowmadic, award-winning poet, writer, actor, comedian, speaker, and youth worker, a founder of the Breath in Poetry Collective, and recently honoured as one of Alberta’s Top 30 under 30;

Jim Gurnett, community worker, sharing Edmonton Coalition on Housing and Homelessness “Right to Housing” campaign;

David Evans (Host), editorialist, columnist and thought leader;

Followed by time for dialogue, and refreshments.

December 9, 5 PM (Please RSVP by December 7 to jimgurnett@yahoo.ca or 780-218-6989)

Edmonton Room, Stanley Milner Library

Free

Available by donation (and a great gift idea): Together, creating a better world: A handbook for community work to end gender discrimination, and Daughters Day t-shirts.

Information: Please contact Satya Das (780-420-0505 or 780-405-2445)

Citizens for a Civil Society is the host organization of the Daughters Day initiative.

