Canadian Values, Canada's Value

For Canada's 150th birthday in 2017, we are convening a citizen engagement to share our visions, hopes and dreams for the future of our country. This inclusive and pluralistic endeavour will reflect on:

- the Canadian values that have shaped us;
- Canada's value as an exemplar of civil society;
- being and belonging at home and in the world;
- becoming the best Canada for the world; and
- evolving a new political and societal culture where peace, human dignity and the broader framework of human rights become the foundation of everyday life.

The journey towards 2017 is being launched with a special event on April 15, 2015, hosted in partnership with the Peter Lougheed Leadership College at the University of Alberta and the Citizens for a Civil Society.

We invite you to be part of a conversation with our distinguished panel:

The Right Honourable Kim Campbell, former prime minister of Canada, founding member of the Club of Madrid, and founding principal of the Peter Lougheed Leadership College;

The Honourable Lloyd Axworthy (PhD), former minister of foreign affairs, past president and vice-chancellor of the University of Winnipeg and chancellor of St. Paul's University College; and

The Honourable Douglas Roche, author, senator and former parliamentarian who will moderate the discussion.

*Wednesday, April 15, 2015
10:00 - 11:30 a.m.*

Room 150 TELUS Centre (map)

A light lunch will follow the conversation.
